New Traffic Rules Set

Instructions and regulations regarding car registration, parking and on-campus traffic have been released by Sam F. Brown, director of the physical plant, and Leonard E. Christensen of the security office.

BYU REGULATIONS require adequate registration of all vehicles driven on campus. Drivers must register with the security office where they will be issued permits. There is no charge. Failure to register may result in a fine.

Traffic and parking on campus have been radically reduced due to construction projects. The opening of a new four-lane perimeter road and retopping, together with the construction of new stairway and underpass to the new dormitory, have closed the access to the university on the east, on the east, roads are closed by the construction of new lines and tunnels to new buildings. At present the only access is at Knight-Mungum (Seventh East and Ninth St.), and north-bound traffic proceed only to the McKay building.

ANCE LARGE parking lots are accessible, most of the available parking space on campus is being reserved for parking from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m. Student parking has been restricted to the following areas: Snow Gardens (west of the house), tennis courts, Eighth and Fourth East, east of Health Center, and east of Social Hall. Officials have issued request for the inconvenience and ask for the understanding of summer school students. Students living in Heland Halls, Heritage Halls, or the dorms are strongly urged to leave their cars at home when parking is provided.

It is also urged that students avoid the ramp or the stairs of the Maeser Building in going to and from the fieldhouse, avoiding the construction near the main stairs. This apply until the projects are completed. Completion date is set for September 20.

Variety Marks Men's Offerings

In Fenn, Metropolitan soprano opened the 22nd annual Festival Wednesday evening in the Joseph Smith Auditorium. Presenting a program of varied musical tastes.

Fenn sang numbers ranging from arias of Handel to folk of the Americas.

Fenn sang operatic selections with precision and power and dance melodies with artistic abandon. Her purity, her sustained control and her relationship captivated and appreciative audience of whom heard her first concert of her career.

DR. FUERNSTER, special director in music at BYU was piano. Mr. Fuernster and Miss Fenn's first concert was accompanied all of her arts since.

Universe

Forsgren—Runs alone for top office.

Thomas — vice presidential candidate.

Kunz — Running for vice president.

Noted Pianist; Graduate Dean Slated Soon

Carl Fuerstner, noted pianist, will appear in concert at Tuesday's assembly. The second performer in the 22nd annual Summer Music Festival, Mr. Fuerstner is rated by critics and musicians alike as a concert artist of superb degree. He has played throughout Europe and the United States including Town Hall in New York, the Library of Congress and the National Gallery in Washington.

The popular musician is a member of the BYU music faculty. He was artist-in-residence for eight consecutive summers before joining the faculty.

MR. FUERNSTER is a conductor and composer. His musical works have been performed widely in the Eastern area, and he is a former director of the Cologne Opera Company in Germany and at Eastman University, Rochester, New York.

Other musicians scheduled for assemblies are Marcel Grandjany, harpist, on June 30; Piermin Quartet of Paris in five concerts from July 5-11; Raymond Manton, leading tenor of San Francisco Opera, August 1; and Mary MacKenzie, Metropolitan Opera mezzo-soprano, August 8.

Thursday's Assembly Dr. Wesley P. Lloyd, new dean of the Graduate School, will be the speaker at Thursday's assembly in the Joseph Smith Auditorium. "Higher Education at Home and Abroad" is the title of Dr. Lloyd's address.

DR. LLOYD was dean of students from 1941 until he accepted his new position in April. He has done extensive work in student personnel and counseling in Europe, Africa and Asia. He has conducted institutes on student personnel services for universities in Japan and served as chairman of the Committee on International Relations of the American Personnel and Guidance Association. He was special advisor on counseling and student personnel services in Burma.

Dr. Lloyd is an author of some note, having written three books on his experiences in foreign countries.

Kilbreth — Seeks secretary spot.

Overson — Candidate for secretary.

Speaks to Students...

Berrett Lauds Prophet Smith at Assembly

How does one great man praise another great man? With love and affection. Professing deep affection for the Prophet Joseph Smith, BYU vice president William E. Berrett spoke to those in attendance at the Tuesday morning student assembly.

The vice president-related the story of a Russian sociologist, who was leaving the United States. When asked, in his opinion, who was the greatest American who ever lived, the Russian replied "Joseph Smith," because of the fact that he had done more and left more for the people than any other American.

Registration

Today registration for summer school will continue in the Joseph Smith Banquet Hall. Next Monday all registration and any changes in registration will be processed in the Maeser Administration Building, but at that time changes in registration will carry a charge of $1 per card.

The last day for changing registrations by electing or discontinuing a class is June 22, announced Alma P. Burton, director of admissions and records. June 22 is the last day for withdrawing from classes without loss of credit, and not June 29, as erroneously reported in the summer school bulletin.

ON THE OCCASION of the Prophet's birthday, Vice President Berrett lauded what he believed to be the five great qualities of the Prophet. The first named was intelligence. Admiringly he told of the inspired intelligence shown by Joseph Smith, and how he used this quality to bring the gospel to the people. Vice President Berrett then cited Joseph Smith's zeal for learning. Berrett said that the Prophet had a faith in God, a faith never lacking. The fourth point brought out was the quality of introspect that enabled Joseph to learn about himself, which is something few of us can accomplish.

The last and most important was the Prophet's love for people. This was very well illustrated by the story of the two sheriffs who came to arrest Joseph. Upon arriving at his home, they proceeded to beat him with their pistols and were cruel to him. They would not even allow him to say goodbye to his family. Finding out of the treatment to Smith's leader, the Prophet's followers came to his rescue with a warrant for the arrest of the sheriffs. At this time Joseph Smith had his home and personally served them dinner. Only a great man could show so much love for his fellow men.

Voting began at 7:30 a.m. today and will conclude at 5 p.m. this afternoon with the slate of five studentbody candidates being announced tonight at a studentbody dance in the Fieldhouse.

TODAY'S SLATE of nominees was decided during yesterday's assembly. Before adjourning the meeting, Scott Fisher, last year's studentbody president, invited nominations for summer officers. The initial nomination was that of Klane Forsgren for the office of president.

Last year's studentbody president invited nominations for summer officers. The initial nomination was that of Klane Forsgren for the office of president.

Forsgren is in his fifth year of engineering and comes to the Y from Preston, Idaho. Serving on a foreign mission and attending high scholastic standing were stressed by this nominee. Speaking before the assembly, Forsgren pledged himself to work for the betterment of the student organization. He also stressed the importance of the coming social events.

Dave Thomas of Pocatello, Idaho was then nominated for vice president. Thomas is president of the Press Club and secretary of Sigma Delta Chi. He was the first winner of the annual Sigma Delta Chi scholarship and has been active in BYU 15th Ward. A former reporter for the Daily Universe, he is now employed by the Deseret News.

Says Thomas, "I feel that the chief need of summer school program is more activity, for with activity comes growth and through my experience in publicity I hope to encourage more activity from all our students in the planned program."

After several moments, a nomination for secretary was finally heard when the name of Barbara Kilbreth of Bakersfield, Calif., was placed before the assembly. Sporting a 3.6 grade-point average, Barbara is an education major and plans to teach in California after concluding the present summer term.

On Thursday two more nominees announced their candidacy for offices.

Phillip R. Kunz, a junior from Montpelier, Idaho, announced that he is running for vice president. Kunz, a sociology major, has lived a mission in the Southern States and has held many positions of leadership both in church and college. He is a member of the Young Businessmen's Association of the AMS Council for the past two years, a member and adviser of Bear Lake Club, and member of the Maeser Club.

Says Kunz, "If elected, I will use my past experience and foresight to fulfill the expectations of this office. I don't admit failure until I've tried my last effort, and I haven't tried my last effort until I have succeeded."

Kunz has a grade average of 3.4. He is married to the former Joyce Sheffield, a junior, and they live in Provo.

Mary Louise Overson of Pendleton, Ore., also announced her candidacy for office of secretary. Miss Overson, a business education major, was head receptionist for the ASBYU during 1959-60 and was secretary of elections during the same time and treasurer of the Val Norin social unit.

In church she has been a chorister for two years and a counselor in MIA.

A MATTER OF RECORD

Most of us can remember back when all recorded music seemed to come from no more than four or five major recording companies. Today there are more than 2500 active labels on the market, any of them "one-spot" operations.

Seems that just about all you need to produce your own label is a name (preferably something original like "Record"), a song (preferably something that was a hit 10 years ago) and about $400 (preferably printed by the government).

One of the happiest things to come out of the current mad melee of music is the transfer of Dinah Shore from RCA to Capitol.

After several years of comparative inactivity with RCA, Miss Shore has come up with three new albums on Capitol, any one of which ably demonstrates that Dinah can still sing a beautiful ballad lyric with all the sincerity and professional ease with which she sings the "Chevy" commercials.

Jazz fans will be happy to know that Art Tatum has been rediscovered. It happened this way: Several years ago, while at a party with some friends, Mr. Tatum was asked to sit and play awhile. Fortunately he did. The host was a Hollywood recording engineer who had almost as much recording equipment in his home as he has at the studio. The result was a tapeful of Art Tatum piano in beautiful high fidelity.

Recently these tapes were discovered by a friend of the host who suggested they be pressed for commercial distribution.

With the permission of the later Mr. Tatum's wife these recordings are available on 20th Fox label under the title "Art Tatum Discoveries," volumes one and two. Turns out to be some of the best Art Tatum ever recorded.

Speaking of high fidelity, I bet some of you thought the only thing you were getting when you bought a new album of your favorite artist was Hi-Fi quality. A quick check of the various labels shows that actually you're getting a lot more: Vitaphone High Fidelity, Ultraphonic High Fidelity, Full frequency range recording, Full Dimensional sound High Fidelity, Orthophonic High Fidelity, Panoramic True High Fidelity, and on and on. There's even one label out called "Palette" which claims to be "color in music," obviously a pigment of the imagination.

One of "Downbeat's" writers wonders if anyone makes low-fi records for people with old record players.

NEXT WEEK—A review of the "Monologists" on record.

'Stereo' Has Two Heads

by Larry Day
Universe Feature Writer

They say that the only thing worse than having a headache would be having two headaches. To a three-weeks-old calf named "Stereo," such a situation is not impossible. Stereo has two heads.

THE TWO-HEADED calf was delivered by cesarean section by veterinarian Dr. Roy Thornberg, at Burley, Idaho. Dr. Thornberg and Idaho newspaperman Gayle Norton brought the calf to Provo in the back of a Ford Thunderbird and turned it over to Dr. Keith Hoopes, assistant professor of animal husbandry at Brigham Young University. The animal is being cared for at the BYU Dairy Farm.

The calf was nicknamed Stereo because the two noses look like a stereophonic speaker. The calf has two noses, two mouths and four eyes. The heads are joined together at the middle eyes. The eyes are too close together for them to close. The other two eyes are normal. The animal has two ears rather than four.

The calf apparently has one brain, according to Dr. Hoopes, and there is some evidence of a brain deformity since the animal has poor coordination.

SEYMORE Mikkelsen, animal husbandry director of student projects, helps care for the calf. He feeds the animal through a tube directly to the stomach, since the calf has difficulty swallowing through either of its mouths.

The calf is fed twice a day. Feed includes five pounds of milk, antibiotics and vitamins. Dr. Hoopes said that if the animal were left alone it would die quickly because of its inability to eat properly. He said, however, that by feeding and caring for it by hand the calf could live indefinitely.

Many persons have visited the BYU Dairy Farm to see the calf since it was brought to Provo June 1.

TWO HEADS ARE BETTER THAN ONE—This is "Stereo," two-headed calf at the Brigham Young University Dairy Farm. "Stereo" has to be fed through a tube to be kept alive. The calf was brought to the BYU Dairy June 1.

Dad's Day is Sunday Fathers to Father Date Back to 2000 BC

FATHER'S DAY may be officially 50 years old this year, but tributes to Dad are an ancient tradition, according to Rust Craft Publishers.

Probably the oldest is a clay tablet written by Elmesu, a Babylonian, about 2000 years before Christ. It implores the gods to grant his father good health and "enduring days" — wishes which are echoed in a thousand different ways on this year's affectionate Father's Day greeting cards.

From an affectionate to a light-hearted tribute to the family's "forgotten man" comes the card from the same publisher, Rust Craft.

Happy Father's Day from your favorite Dish... Washer! Several of the "off-beat" studio type cards depict Dad as he really is:

"To Dad who is always calm, cool and... collected from..."

And, "To good ol' Pop..."

Happy Pauper's Day!"

DAD MAY BE King in America (well for one day, anyway) but in some parts of the world, he could stand a little recognition.

On Palau Island in the South Seas, for example, the ruling matriarch can have any male executed if he often disturbs her contemplation.

And near Sumatra, Dad has to go live with his wife's family; children take their mother's name—and only daughters inherit property.

In India, Dad's in even worse shape. If he goes into debt, Mother can sell him into slavery to pay off his creditors. And in the African Sudan, Mother may return to her parents after bearing five children—leaving Father to look after the little ones.

Fathers were not always low men on the totem pole, though. Back in ancient Greece, an annual festival honored Zeus, father of the gods. Zeus was also patron of human fathers, and dutiful sons gave their Dads the traditional gift—a cluster of ripe grapes.

Probably the champion father of all time was Emperor Mulai

Ismail of Morocco, who died in 1727 at the age of 81, leaving 548 sons and 340 daughters. He had 300 wives and 700 concubines.

The setting apart of a day on which to honor fathers by special services in churches and in other ways, originated independently in different parts of the country and in different years. Different days were chosen before there came to be a general agreement on the third Sunday in June.

THE CREDIT for making the first suggestion of a Father's Day belongs to Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Wash.

Economic Education Workshop

Presently in Session; Kickoff Address Given by Governor

Forty-seven Utah teachers arrived at Brigham Young University Monday morning for the orientation meetings of the eighth annual Utah Workshop on Economic Education which will be held through July 1.

The workshop, which is sponsored by BYU in cooperation with the Joint Council on Economic Education and the Utah State Department of Public Instruction, is headed by Dr. Weldon J. Taylor, dean of the BYU College of Business.

Funds for the meet are provided through contributions from business and labor organizations and by individuals who want to further economic understanding of the state and nation.

BETWEEN 40 and 50 Utah teachers are participating in the conference which is held in Amanda Knight Hall. Economic Workshops are held annually throughout the country in an effort to raise the level of economic understanding in the United States.

VISITORS—Sidique Merican, teacher from Malaya, left, Dr. Israel Heaton of the BYU Recreation Department, and Oscar Esparza, professor at Central University in Cuba, talk

Foreign Visitors Impressed With Physical Program

Provo and Brigham Young University should be a required stop for every foreign visitor to the United States, according to a pair of exchange educators who spent the last four days observing life on campus and in the city.

Oscar Esparza, a professor from Central University in Cuba, and Sidique Merican, a teacher from Malaya, are being sponsored on a tour of the United States by the U.S. International Recreation Association.

Both found the community and the school to their liking.

"There were several things that really impressed them," said Dr. Israel Heaton, who hosted the pair during their stay in Provo.

"The first was Leadership Week where they were amazed at the large number of people, the variety of ages, and the broad choice of offerings," said Dr. Heaton.

"They also showed unusual interest in the program and facilities of the College of Physical Education, particularly in the area of recreation. Both said it was something extra, something over and beyond what they had found elsewhere."

"Another feature they enjoyed and often commented about was Provo's quiet atmosphere and pleasant surroundings," he added.

Johnston Fires 73 in U.S. Open

DENVER (UPI) — Provo's Billy Johnston shot a first round 73 Thursday in the U. S. Open Golf Tournament at Denver. Johnston fired a 35 on the front nine and 38 on the way back.

Mike Soucek still holds the early lead in the first round with a three-under par 68.

Jerry Barber of Los Angeles moved into second place, posting a 69. Julius Boros, one of eight former winners in the field, carded a 73. Veteran Art Wall was one over par with a 72.
